Very cool and dry winter with a period from March to May which proved to be one of the warmest in recent years. A quite homogeneous vintage in quality, easy harvest which stands out for its frankness and exuberance.

Terreus 2011 is a wine of impressive fruit, expressive, creamy and graceful, with its usual ability to age but more gentle tannins than in previous vintages due to an end of ripening full of sun and warmth. In order to preserve the freshness and aromatic complexity of the wine the harvest took place early on September 15th.
