VINTAGE

October provided the rain the vines so longed for when the cycle started, since it had not rained since August. Autumn was long and wet, and winter began late with moderate temperatures. The first semester of the year was marked by abundant and constant rainfall until the end of June, when temperatures timidly began to reach summer figures, announcing a mild summer.

On 13th September, a time-consuming harvest began until mid-October, with juicy grapes and more generous yields than in the previous meagre harvest.

TASTING NOTES

Deepness and aromatic purity in a wine of extreme finesse and freshness. Broad, delectable, with a powerful but flexible tannic structure.

AGEING

Bottled in May 2020 after 15 months of ageing in barrels and vats of French and American oak of different ages.
